

Insists No One Let Down

Acheson Strongly Stresses That Congress Approve Arms Aid Fund

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today urged Congress to approve a new $1-222,500,000 foreign arms aid program to help free peoples protect themselves against "those who would enslave them."

Acheson said the United States must continue its military assistance to western Europe in order to preserve the North Atlantic area from aggression.

He said the western, anti-Communist coalition already has made great progress in economic and political cooperation and in defense preparations.

But, the secretary said sharply: "If any one of us let down, or slacken our efforts, the result could well be disaster. Only by forceful, concerted action along the lines which have been initiated can the countries which practice democracy preserve democracy."

Acheson's prepared testimony was presented to a joint session of the Senate foreign relations and armed services committee. It followed by a President Truman's message asking Congress for the new funds to keep flowing the $1,314,010,000 of American munitions already being sent abroad in this fiscal year. The new money would provide arms aid for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Mr. Truman called the aid a "dynamic program of constructive action . . . to expand the freedom and increase the well-being of all free people."

Forceful Statement
The president's statement in support of his request was far more heated than the one Acheson presented today. Mr. Truman declared bluntly that the Soviet Communists are threatening free nations everywhere and the urgent need to reinforce "the ramparts of freedom . . . has never been more plain."

Later in the day Mr. Truman followed up his message to Congress with a news conference comment that he thinks the world is nearer peace today than it has been at any time during the past five years.

Acheson reported to Congress members personally Wednesday on his recent diplomatic talks in London.

The secretary reminded the two committees that he had reviewed in that appearance "the very significant progress" being made by the 12 North Atlantic treaty members, including the United States, toward "making the treaty a working instrument" for peace.

Need More Apparent
Acheson said in his testimony today:

"Much, of course, remains to be done. Further progress will continue to depend on the unrelenting effort of all 12 partners. It is perfectly clear, however, that if the treaty members are to be able to preserve the North Atlantic area from aggression, the United States must continue with its military aid to those countries."

He said that by unifying their separate strengths, the allies "can preserve the peace by confronting a potential aggressor with conditions under which resort to war would be clearly disadvantageous."

Acheson said the estimate of need grew out of very careful estimates of the size of the rearmament task.

He reminded the committee that in addition to furnishing arms, the United States also has financed

Johnson Sees Progress Being Made Toward Unification

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 2.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said today unification does not mean each of the armed services should bury its own causes.

So long as all are bound by final decisions, he wouldn't want it any other way, Johnson said in a speech for the 110th Naval Academy commencement.

Academy-bred officers "are contributing wholeheartedly" to unification, Johnson told the 690 graduates.

"I can say without any hesitancy whatsoever that the spirit of unification has become a real and universal force throughout the services," Johnson said.

The class itself illustrated his point.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, swore in 461 as ensigns. But 171 were commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force. The Marine Corps, an arm of the Navy, received 48 shavetails.

Ten others, including three from South America and one from the Philippines, won diplomas but no commissions. The four from foreign nations will be inducted into their own navies.

All received bachelor of science degrees.

"I am not prepared to say that all differences among the services have been resolved or that none will ever rise again," Johnson said. "In fact, toward that kind of unification none of us aspires."

Men with strong loyalties are bound to disagree occasionally, he continued.

"But we have a right to demand that ultimately, after adequate discussion, they will get together in the national interest and come to definite decisions that will bind them all."

Six months ago Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, later replaced as chief of naval operations, and some other officers rebelled because they said the new set-up subordinated the Navy. But Johnson noted today that "progress made in the year has exceeded our most sanguine expectations" of unification.

Consider a Police Force of 25,000 Men

Proposal Up to Commissioners of Three Countries

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Western powers are considering a proposal to create a central police force of 25,000 men in Western Germany.

This was disclosed today by the State Department, which said the proposal was advanced by Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany.

The suggestion was taken up by the American-British-French foreign ministers at their London meeting early this month but no decision was reached.

Press Officer Michael J. McDermott told a news conference that the matter now has been referred to the American-British-French high commissioners at Frankfurt for a decision after discussing with West German leaders.

Reach No Agreement
McDermott stressed there has been no agreement yet "as to the nature or size of additional police units for Germany."

As a matter of fact, he said, the three Western allies have not even decided whether more police are needed.

McDermott said the high commissioners have been instructed to "study and make recommendations" to their governments on whether to create a police force and if so what size it should be.

He said the commissioners have been given "no guidance" to help them make up their minds.

McDermott said the foreign ministers "did not feel they had sufficient data and information to reach a decision in London. Before the meeting, he said, Adenauer sent a letter to all three governments "requesting 25,000 central police."

The letter undoubtedly was prompted by Russia's move in arming a 50,000-man East German police force.

The three Western foreign ministers discussed Russia's action in East Germany and decided to issue separate protests against it. They contended Russia was flagrantly violating specific pledges not to rearm Germany.

The protests which the three governments delivered to Moscow denouncing the creation of an armed East German police force were full of detailed information—even to the location and size of units along with the names of leaders.

He said that by unifying their separate strengths, the allies "can preserve the peace by confronting a potential aggressor with conditions under which resort to war would be clearly disadvantageous."

Acheson said the estimate of need grew out of very careful estimates of the size of the rearmament task.

He reminded the committee that in addition to furnishing arms, the United States also has financed

High Speed Camera To Record Shocks

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Army said today it has built a $500 camera out of "odds and ends" which will take pictures at a 100,000-per-second clip.

An announcement said the camera, to be used for recording shock and detonation waves in the study of explosives, was designed by Morton Sultanoff, a civilian worker at the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground. Besides helping in the development of weapons, the new camera may be used to study detonation knock in internal combustion engines.

Support to Blood Bank By Jaycees

Dr. C. D. Osborne And Ralph Carrel Dinner Speakers

Members of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting held in the Pioneer room of Dan's Restaurant Thursday evening, pledged to support the walking blood bank, by adopting it as one of their permanent projects and supplying 500 blood donors for the worthwhile cause.

The committee for this project will be headed by Frank Evans. Many of those on the committee have given blood and will be well qualified to answer any questions of those who might want to give blood to the walking bank.

Nine Jaycee members signed up to undertake the All Scout project in an endeavor to start the Air Scouts in Sedalia. A committee will be appointed at a later date.

Dr. Charles D. Osborne and Ralph M. Carrel, laboratory technician at the Bethesda hospital, were the after dinner speakers.

Dr. Osborne spoke on the history of blood transfusion and the need of blood in our community. In his talk, he stressed the urgency of the blood project, because of emergencies and accidents, which require lots of blood, the doctor said.

Tells of Blood Bank
Mr. Carrel, who has charge of operating the blood bank for Sedalia, related it was organized here in 1947, strictly on the honor system. He said since 1948, the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been sponsoring the walking donor service.

Carrel stressed the fact that if 500 donors were obtained for the blood bank, the volunteer donors would not have to give blood so often. He pointed out that donors now registered have to be called upon from time to time (Please turn to Page 6, Column 2)

Truman to Give Talk at Mexico

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—President Truman will make a brief rear platform talk at Mexico, Mo., next Friday on his 3-day visit to Missouri.

The White House said today that Mr. Truman's train will stop at Mexico for five minutes around 3:30 p. m. (EST).

Presidential secretary Charles G. Ross said that R. M. (Bob) White, general manager of the Mexico Leader had invited Mr. Truman to make the stop and was arranging a train-side reception for him.

Asked if it would be a "political talk" Ross said "I think it will be largely a greeting."

Mr. Truman will fly to St. Louis next Thursday night, then go to Columbia, Mo., by train the next day to speak and receive a degree from the University of Missouri. The stop at Mexico will be on the return trip from Columbia to St. Louis.

At St. Louis, the President will attend the annual reunion of the 35th division, his World War I outfit.

He will leave the train at Robertson, Mo., near St. Louis, on the trip from Columbia and will attend a reception at Grant's farm. His party will drive into St. Louis after the reception.

Be-Boppers New Rival Gang

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—Fancy haircuts, colorful zoot suits—arc new danger spots in Brooklyn's outbreak of bloody teen-age gang wars.

Bad blood among a half dozen gangs has brought two schoolboy killings in the last five weeks. Another youth was seriously wounded in a new flareup of open warfare on Memorial day.

New tension was added to the rivalry when an investigation ordered by the district attorney's office disclosed today the existence of a relatively new gang—the be-boppers.

The be-bopper members dress themselves up in weird color combinations and distinctive haircuts—long on top with the back of the head shaved.

When be-boppers are caught alone by members of other gangs, off comes the haircut. Although there haven't yet been any mass encounters as a result, police have been alerted.

The be-boppers, who operate in automobiles, wear peg top trousers in light red, green and other colors. The trousers are accompanied by knee-length jackets of contrasting hues.

Police said the gaily-attired youths make it a practice to hang outside school or community dances, start fights and then steal the girls away from their beaten escorts.

Crime Inquiry To Reach Out Far And Wide

Special Effort As to Gambling And Racketeering

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—A Senate investigation of crime and gambling appeared to be snow-balling today in the biggest government crackdown on the underworld since prohibition days.

With the full support of President Truman—reaffirmed at his news conference yesterday—a special senate committee moved toward a series of fast-breaking inquiries stretching all the way from New York and Florida to California.

In the latest move, Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) disclosed he will ask the federal communications commission to "freeze" all Western Union messages filed to prevent them from being discarded.

The EFC has ordered such a freeze on telephone toll slips at the request of the Kefauver committee. Normally the telephone companies destroy toll slips after holding them for six months. Western Union keeps its message files for the same period.

The investigator hope, through these communications records, to establish that big-time gamblers and racketeers are using interstate communications to conduct their operations.

At his news conference Mr. Truman pledged his personal support—and the full cooperation of federal agencies—to the senate committee.

Extend to New Field
He opened up a whole new field of inquiry by promising to give the senators access to information which usually is highly confidential material.

Mr. Truman said he will leave it to Attorney General McGrath to see the committee gets tax information if necessary on suspected gamblers and racketeers. This announcement came after the President had conferred with committee members at the White House.

Income tax returns and information are confidential under the law, but can be disclosed on Presidential order. Committee members said an executive order is "in the works" to help them get the information they need.

The President would be setting no precedent by opening income tax returns and other such confidential information to the committee. He reminded newsmen he was given this privilege when he headed the senate war investigating committee during World War II.

Kefauver said he also expects to get information from the federal bureau of investigation, the treasury department's narcotics division, and the immigration bureau.

With information from these sources—added to information from local law enforcement agencies—the committee hopes to piece together the story of big-time underworld operations.

Specifically, the group has set out to chart broadly the source of underworld wealth, where it is invested, and what connections there may be between criminal and political groups.

Mother Shot Child That Was Asleep

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—The four-year-old daughter of an American woman and a Chinese waiter was in a critical condition today while the mother accused of shooting her was committed to Bellevue hospital for observation.

Police said Mrs. Emma Rose Curtis, 30, fired a bullet into the head of her daughter, Toy Yuk Tom, Wednesday night because she thought people were making fun of the child's Oriental features.

"I didn't want my little girl to suffer and be pushed around the way I have been," the attractive woman told officers.

Mrs. Tom and her husband, Jimmy, who works in a Bronx restaurant, are estranged.

The child was shot as she lay sleeping in her crib in the Tom's upper east side apartment. After the shooting Mrs. Tom ran to the apartment of a neighbor, who called police.

Mrs. Tom, a native of Yeaton, Pa., wept silently when she was arraigned on charges of felonious assault and illegal possession of a gun.

REA to Add Many More Miles of Lines

Loan of $450,000 To be Used in Three Counties

The Central Missouri Electric co-operative was advised Thursday by Claude R. Wickard, administrator of Rural Electrification Administration, that the request for a loan of $450,000 has been approved.

Leland M. La Valle, local manager for the R. E. A. co-op said the money will be used on a proposed additional 34½ miles of line to serve 278 signed members and a section of 77 miles of members extension to serve 324 signed members.

The service, when completed will go to a total of 602 farms in the three county area of Benton, Pettis and Saline. Other expansion will include 41 miles of conversion work to enlarge existing lines and the addition of oil circuit reclosers and one KVA sub-station.

Manager, Le Valle said the local co-op is now operating 15,046 miles of line and serves 4,367 farms in the three counties mentioned.

The completion of this work will, according to La Valle complete the major system for the co-operative. Construction will start as soon as engineers can make plans and draw up specifications. Le Valle added that this would be done at an early date.

Gorgeous Display Made in Show of the Rose Society

Roses of all colors and kinds are on display at the Second Annual Rose Show being held today at the Elks Club, Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, by the Sedalia Rose Society. The show will continue throughout the evening.

Featured in the show is "The Parade of Roses" in which are clever arrangements of roses in containers of all kinds. Particularly outstanding are wooden early day woodburning engines, a carved wooden oxen team pulling a wagon and an old time fire engine, all antique. Also bringing the railroad idea up to the minute is a modern coal car loaded with red roses on a railroad track. Colorful crepe paper floats with various types of containers on them filled with roses are in the parade. There are a Japanese woman, a Chinese man with a boat, a baby's shoe, and many other containers, and pulling the floats are china horses, mules, zebras, and various types of animals. There were bunnies with Easter bonnets, a Dutch boy with geese, wheelbarrows, turkeys, all combined with roses. Scenic Room for luncheon.

Some Rare Containers
For rare containers there is an antique candle mold. Other containers with arrangement of roses are crystal, Madonnas, pottery in all shape, and roses were used with vines, shrubs, pansies and seafan.

One of the prettiest displays is the bride's table with a three tier cake given by Dillon's bakery, which is decorated with red roses. On either are celophane bells in white of all sizes with red rose clappers and in the background are white taper in crystal holders. There are other interesting luncheon table settings also.

Specter roses are as unusually attractive in the new tube holders set in white base.

Judges for the show were Mrs. Clifford B. Smith, who founded the Kansas City Rose Society and the Kansas City Municipal Rose Gardens in Kansas City, Mrs. William S. Gorman and Mrs. A. G. McWhirter, also members of the Kansas City Rose Society. The three judges were guests today noon of the Sedalia Rose Society at the Flowers

Scenic Room for luncheon.

Reports Of Plot Said Fake

Declared Against Gen. MacArthur; Tense Situation Now in Tokyo

By the Associated Press
Japanese Communists pushed their anti-American campaign to a showdown today and reliable Tokyo sources said General MacArthur's headquarters is weighing a government plan to outlaw the Communist party.

The Communists' campaign of militancy began with a Memorial day incident when American servicemen were kicked and stoned. When eight Japanese were brought to speedy trial because of the incident the Communists ordered an anti-American "general strike" for tomorrow.

The tense Tokyo scene was heightened by Japanese reports of another plot to assassinate General MacArthur, but Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, American intelligence officer, branded the reports "an absolute fake."

He said an "excitable" Japanese policeman had informed Allied headquarters that police had arrested a Japanese who "apparently was a paranoiac"—one who believes the whole world is against him.

The plot was supposed to involve an unidentified Tokyo organization of leftist persuasion and was set for next Sunday to coincide with the upper house of parliament elections. At least two previous frustrated assassination plots against MacArthur have been reported during the occupation.

The Communists planned tomorrow's demonstrations in the hope they would have some effect on Sunday's elections. The party, which has been goaded into action by international Communist taunts that it is docile, predicted some 400,000 labor unionists and thousands of students would join in the strike.

The Japanese government yesterday indicated it is prepared to sign a peace treaty with any Allied nation that would recognize Japanese independence. This was a hint it would welcome a separate treaty with the West although desiring an overall treaty with all powers including Russia. Observers said it was significant the conservative government issued the statement following the Communist-inspired Memorial Day incident.

YUGOSLAVIA—A former colonel in the Yugoslav army, Vlado Dapcevic, said at his treason trial he plotted with Soviet military men to help change the anti-Kremlin policy of Premier Marshal Tito's government. Soviet delegate Amassp Arutunian said it was U.S. policy to compel West European countries to discriminate against East Europe in trade matters.

Rhee said this showed independent thinking on the part of the electorate and predicted this might result in a new national party.

Speculate on Ted Williams Trade Request

Williams Says Rumor False and Doesn't Know How it Started

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—The fortunes of Ted Williams in particular and the Boston Red Sox in general came in for a major share of sports column space yesterday in New York newspapers.

1. Jimmy Cannon, columnist for the Post, said flatly the Red Sox slugger wants to be traded—preferably to Detroit.

(In Boston Williams said the "rumor is absolutely, false and I don't know how it got started.") Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager called the report "silly and a figment of the imagination.")

2. In the Daily Mirror, Dan Parker writes that Boston newspapermen think Williams is what ails the Red Sox.

3. Said Red Smith in the Herald Tribune: "If ever a club looked like a beaten team, the Red Sox did when they quit the stadium Tuesday evening" after dropping the Memorial Day double bill to the Yankees.

4. "Maybe they just don't have it," declared Arthur Daley of the Times.

5. Joe Williams in the World-Telegram and Sun: "Do the Red Sox quit under pressure?"

6. And Max Kase, Journal-American: "Gold Horse? Rename them the Paper Sox."

Had Been Picked To Win
The Sox had been picked by a majority of experts to win the American league pennant.

"Boston's hostile and abusive baseball fanatics probably have succeeded in running Ted Williams out of town," wrote Cannon in a copyrighted article.

"It is his hope that this is his last year with the Red Sox. I can exclusively and positively report today, Williams intends to ask the Red Sox to trade him. The choice is Detroit, Cleveland and the Yankees could afford to employ him."

Williams is an expensive item. The Sox are reported to be paying him $125,000 this year—most money ever given a baseball star.

May 11, Williams drew cat calls and boos from Boston fans when he made two errors as the Sox dropped two games to Detroit.

When the razzing came from the stands, Ted replied with a two-handed gesture not calculated to make friends. The next day, the Sox front office issued a statement saying Williams was sorry, and apologized.

The Mirror columnist, saying the Sox gave a lackadaisical performance, remarked that Yankee fans could recall the hustle inspired by Manager Joe McCarthy when he was in New York.

"It must be that the material (at Boston) is at fault. He inherited much of it and it could be that this part of his ball club was moulded beyond hope of reshaping."

"Take Ted Williams, for instance. Imagine anyone trying to make him over. Possessed of more natural ability as a hitter than any ball player of this era, Ted could outshine Babe Ruth if he had one tenth of Babe's warmth and one twentieth of his competitive spirit. x x x Some of the Boston writers

Biggest BONER

Hermanski Finds Ballplayer Can't Coach Base-Runner And Be One, Too

By Gene Hermanski Brooklyn Outfielder

It's a wonder the rabid Dodgers didn't exile me to Siberia after the stunt I pulled last summer.

It was mid-season, and we were tangleing with the Cardinals in an extra-inning game at Ebbets field. The score was 4-4 with Jack Banta on second one out. I drew a base on balls.

Jake Pitler was working in the first base coaching box and he kept yelling to Banta to take a bigger lead.

"Jake," I said, sauntering back to the bag, "let me tell Jack how big a lead he should take. I'm closer to him. He can hear me better."

"Okay, Gene. He's all yours. But don't let him get picked off," warned Pitler.

"Not a chance," I assured him. For the next two or three pitches I kept my eye on Banta, telling him how big a lead to take. All the while I kept edging off first, farther and farther. But I paid little or no attention to myself. I was more interested in seeing that Banta played it safe. After all, he was the potential winning run.

Suddenly Banta was scurrying back to second, waving his arms and pointing to me.

"Gene, you fool!" he shouted. "Look out. Back off!"

It was too late. The pitcher had turned and thrown to first base, catching me napping. It was a perfect pick-off. I had become so concerned about Banta that I'd completely forgotten about myself. Pitler had been yelling at me to get back, but I hadn't heard him.

We failed to score that inning, and the St. Louis club went on to win.

All because I thought I could coach a runner and be one, too. That's the last time I ever offered my services to the first-base coach.

As you well know, nothing looks as silly as a runner getting picked off a base.

Even in Brooklyn they won't stand for it.

are coming around to the conclusion that, despite his prodigious batting, Williams is what's wrong with the Red Sox."

Duke Tells His Life Story in Life Magazine

Says British Would Rather See Him in Illicit Love Affair

NEW YORK, June 2—(P)—The Duke of Windsor, thinks the British government of 1936 would rather have had its king carry on an illicit love affair than see him marry a divorcee and make her queen.

Tell Of Abdication
Writing in Life magazine, the former Edward VIII tells his own story of how the abdication crisis flared over his love for Wallis Simpson and his unshakeable resolve to marry her.

Argument after argument followed with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who stubbornly opposed the marriage and fought it on every ground.

"What separated us was not a sinful wish on my part, but rather the question of my right to marry as other men do," the duke says in his memoirs.

"If the Prime Minister's argument were to be carried to a logical conclusion, then the implicit suggestion, it seemed to me, was that I should take a mistress.

"A discreet flat nearby. . . A key to a garden door. . . Decorous associations — the relationship might be privately deplored, but it had had notable royal precedents."

Refused To Consider
This Edward refused to consider. "As dispassionately as I could, I told him that marriage had become an indispensable condition to my continued existence, whether as king or as man.

"I intend to marry Mrs. Simpson as soon as she is free to marry," I said.

"If I could marry her as king, well and good; I would be happy and in consequence perhaps a better king. But if on the other hand the government opposed the marriage, as Mr. Baldwin had given me reason to believe it would, then I was prepared to go."

At this point, the Duke says, one of the younger members of the cabinet—whom he does not name—advised him to go slow and said he could win if he were patient. Wallis' divorce from Ernest Simpson was to become final at the end of April, 1937, while the coronation ceremony was set for May 12.

The advice of the unidentified cabinet minister was that the king should go ahead with the coronation, and in due time in a calmer atmosphere raise the question of "my right to marry whom I pleased."

But the coronation service, the duke writes, is fundamentally a religious service.

Does Not Recognize Divorce
"The king is anointed with holy oil; he takes the sacrament; and as a defender of the faith, he swears an oath to uphold the doctrines of the church of England, which of course does not recognize divorce.

"For me to have gone through the coronation ceremony while harbouring in my heart a secret intention to marry contrary to the church's tenets, would have meant being crowned with a lie on my lips.

"This I could not do." The duke said he never once considered dropping his marriage plans. He said he deeply resented Baldwin's government forcing the issue so many months before the marriage could become legally possible.

Grisly Mystery In N. Y. Solved

NEW YORK, June 2—(P)—The grisly mystery of a dismembered body, parts of which were found in widely scattered sections of Brooklyn and the Borough of Queens, was listed as solved on Thursday.

Police said Mrs. Elizabeth Houston, 42, a Negro, admitted killing her common law husband with an axe and then slicing away parts of the body with a carving knife because it wouldn't fit in a small trunk.

The trunk containing the torso was found by a group of boys in a Jamaica, Queens, swamp. A neatly wrapped package of human flesh was found in a Brooklyn street. Six other packages, police said, were dropped into ashcans.

The dismembered body was identified as that of John Fletcher, 35, after he was reported missing by his employer, Armour & Co. The six-foot 250-pound negro was a meat handler in the company's Jersey City, N. J., plant.

Mrs. Houston, a short, 250-pound household worker, was arrested last night in Harlem. Police said she told them she killed Fletcher in a quarrel over his practice of bringing friends home to play poker.

Three Killed in A B-29 Crash

BOSWELL, N.M., June 2—(P)—A B-29 bomber from the Walker Air Base at Roswell crashed and burned Thursday, killing three of its crew of seven.

The plane became uncontrollable at 9,000 feet, an airforce announcement said, and four fliers parachuted safely.

"The plane went straight down—nose down," reported Fred Barnes, farmer who lives about 10 miles from the bluff where the plane hit.

"It wasn't even spinning. When it hit, it seemed to bounce several hundred feet into the air. It was the awfullest ball of fire I ever hope to see."

The air force said the plane exploded after it struck the ground.

The plane had been on a test flight.

Walker air force base said the survivors included Capt. Joseph G. Liebich, pilot, from Springfield, Mo.

Reds Call Strike In Japan

Police Alerted To be Ready in The Event That Violence Breaks

By the Associated Press

Militant Communists in occupied Japan today called for a general strike on Saturday and police all over Japan were alerted for new outbreaks of Red violence.

The strike was ordered by the Communists in reprisal for the occupation's rush trial of eight Japanese accused of kicking and stoning American soldiers Tuesday. It was the first serious Japanese-American clash since Gen. MacArthur's troops took over control of that country.

The Communists have recently become openly defiant of American authority after being taunted by international Communist charges of timidity. Gen. MacArthur in the past year has twice suggested in speeches that Japan may be forced to defend her new constitutional liberties by outlawing the Communist party.

The party's order for a reprisal strike coincides with general strikes Saturday in the automobile, metal trades and heavy industry. The party strategy is to influence the elections Sunday for the upper house of parliament.

While Communist disturbances came to a head in Japan on the Far Eastern periphery of the Soviet Union, at the other extreme, on the borders on Soviet-held East Germany, tension caused by Communist youth decreased.

Ten thousand sleepy Communist teenagers en route to their west German homes gave up their sit-down strike against west German medical examinations at Luebeck and crossed the East-West line. On their way home from the week-end east Berlin Red demonstrations, the blue-shirted youths had camped two nights just inside the Soviet zone rather than submit to inspection and give their names to border police. Authorities said there were no further incidents along the border caused by the returning Communist youths.

KOREA—South Koreans dumped major parties overboard in Tuesday's elections and gave independents a landslide victory. This means that President Syngman Rhee's administration is in for a troubled time when the single-body national parliament meets June 19. Rhee put through a policy of stiffer taxes working toward a balanced budget as urged by Americans. The pro-Rhee forces suffered a heavy defeat in the election.

UNITED NATIONS—The question of international control of Jerusalem comes before the U.N. trusteeship council when it begins its summer session today at Lake Success. The Chinese Communists yesterday demanded representation on the council and named Meng Yung-Chien as their delegate. The Russians boycotted the Geneva winter meeting of the council because Communist China is not represented.

Loses Life in Car-Truck Collision

PARIS, Mo., June 1—(AP)—James M. Herndon, 86, was found dead last night after a car-truck collision in the south city limits of Paris.

A coroner's jury later found that Herndon had died of a heart attack before his car ran head-on into a truck driven by Clay Bryan Shrader.

Both vehicles were demolished. Shrader escaped with slight injuries.

Sec'y. Johnson Asks Extension Of Draft Law

Wants it Extended 3-Years With No Strings Attached

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson asked senators today for a three-year extension of the draft law with no strings on it.

If trouble comes, he said, the President should have power to act instantly to put men into uniform without waiting for Congress to assemble and deliberate.

Oppose Modified Bill
Thus his testimony, given to the Senate Armed Services committee, underscored his opposition to the modified selective service bill the House passed May 24. That measure would extend until June 24, 1952, the requirement that 18-year-olds register for possible induction. But it also provides that they could not be drafted unless Congress by later legislation declared an emergency.

Would the secretary rather have no draft act at all than the House bill? Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked mildly.

Well, no, Johnson admitted. But he left no doubt of his conviction that the President should be able to push the switch if the cold war burst into violence.

He got some support for his stand from a Republican member of the committee.

Thinks Of Atomic Attack
Senator Knowland of California, a veteran of World War II, said he originally favored the House version but was about to conclude that some other plan is needed because of the possibility of atomic attack.

Should such an assault wipe out a majority of the lawmakers, he pointed out, governors could appoint new senators, but House members would have to be chosen at special elections which might delay matters as long as 60 days.

Further, he said, if the city of Washington were contaminated by radiation, the seat of government could not be moved without congressional approval.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, supported Johnson's plea for an extension of the law which is due to run out June 24.

Everyone, however, was talking in terms of a possible future emergency rather than immediate manpower needs by the military. The peacetime draft law has been in effect since 1948, but it has been more than 16 months since anyone was inducted.

Nevertheless, Johnson insisted that the nation must keep itself in "a state of alert" for an indefinite time.

Camporee For The Boy Scouts

The Pettis District Camporee, Boy Scouts of America, is all set to commence activities this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Girl Scout Camp, located about four miles southwest of Sedalia.

All the units in the district, totalling 150 Scouts, have been making preparations for this Camporee, according to Abe Silverman, chairman. They have been working on scouting skills and the special projects in which they will participate.

The highlights of the three day program will be the Saturday evening Camp Fire and the Court of Honor to be held on Sunday afternoon.

All parents and friends are invited to attend these activities. A family style picnic will be held at the Sunday noon meal. There will be projects such as knot-tying, fire building and water boiling, first aid, compass course, carry the message relay, signaling and many others.

Awards for proficiency on the scouting skills, camping and the projects will be awarded at the Court of Honor.

Stole Trailer to Haul Off Cattle

BLAIR, Okla., June 1—(AP)—Bill Cargal found out cattle rustlers are a tricky lot—they stole his car trailer in one county and went into another county to use it to steal his cattle.

That made him so mad he turned sleuth and tracked down two men who were arrested for stealing and rustling.

After he found his trailer and the cattle missing, Cargal checked around and learned his cattle had been sold in a sale at nearby Carnegie. He discovered his trailer abandoned in back of the sales barn.

After much questioning, Cargal got descriptions of the rustlers and called officers. "With the descriptions, officers were able to pick up two men who he said, admitted rustling the cattle."

They said they didn't realize they had taken the cattle and trailer from the same man. They said they were sorry

Flaming Death Trap for Navy Men

QUONSET, R. I., June 1—(AP)—A twin-engine patrol plane was transformed into a flaming death trap for nine Navy men today as it burst afire in an emergency landing.

The ship developed engine trouble exactly 23 minutes after taking off from this naval air base on the last leg of a flight from Jacksonville, Fla., to Argentina, Newfoundland.

An alerted rescue squad pulled the pilot and co-pilot from the plane as flames raced through it. The other nine men were burned to death in their seats as the fierce fire kept would-be rescuers at a distance.

The Navy identified the pilot as Commander C. E. Fraumeni, commanding officer of squadron VP-3, Jacksonville. The co-pilot was identified as Lt. (JG) H. A. Hamberg. Ages and home addresses were not made public.

Quonset sources said Hamberg is Hal Hamberg, former Navy football star.

Commander Raymond Glasgow, in charge of public information at the base, said the plane developed engine trouble shortly after taking off. Before the ship could be brought back, the engine broke out in flames.

Glasgow said the plane came in with limited visibility prevailing. It hit the runway hard and then rolled completely over on its back. The two rescued men were barely free of the wreckage when it was enveloped in wind-swept flames.

District Health Office be Here

Purpose is to Improve Health in Rural Areas

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1—(AP)—A shuffling of district health offices aimed at improving rural health conditions was announced today by the state division of health.

The district offices will be at Cameron, Sedalia, Mon, Washington, Poplar Bluff and Springfield.

All are new locations except Cameron and Washington. Other old district headquarters were at Sikeston, Fredericktown, Salem, Monett, Osceola, Higginsville and Kirksville.

Dr. Buford C. Hamilton, division director, said the longtime goal is improving rural health and getting more doctors in rural Missouri.

He said the reorganization, expected to be completed by July 1, will give Missouri a better distribution of health personnel, health educators, sanitary engineers, nursing and clerical staffs will be stationed in each district.

The new districts will work with councilor districts of the State Medical Association in setting up local health councils of laymen. Local councils, in turn, will "study their own problems and do something to remedy them."

I think this will go far towards not only analyzing our problems, but providing a uniform effort to remedy our problems," he said.

Approve Loan To Cooperative

Old Timers Discuss Bits of The City's Earlier Progress

Wednesday night was a big night for a group of old timers when they gathered in the assembly room of the court house, with members of the Pettis County Historical Society, to view slides of early Sedalia, identify and give a bit of history on business places and old homes.

At times the discussions grew so enthusiastic that a half dozen people or more were talking at the same time and those who were trying to listen couldn't understand any of them—then there were times when there was a difference in opinion as to what building was what, and where it was located, and again there was difficulty in establishing a year in which a certain happened.

The two most prominent in the discussion were Mack Looney, a former Sedalian who now resides in Chicago and has never forgotten anything that happened in Sedalia during his early childhood and early manhood and W. M. (Mint) Johns, 705 West Broadway, whose memory is just as good as Looney's. Taking part in the reminiscing also was Irwin Raut, 703 West Seventh street, and now and then the voices of women could be heard above the constant chatter with: "I know that is the Jaynes home. Mrs. Jaynes used to give me roses

Finder and Claimant Split Found Money

ALBANY, Mo., June 1—(AP)—The $1,343 found in a barn manger last February has been divided between the family of the finder and the only other claimant.

James Lewis, 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Lewis found a jar containing the money, hidden near a large stone in the manger.

The Lewises moved to the farm, eight miles northwest of Stanberry, in November, 1949. Mrs. Phene Best, whose parents formerly owned the farm, claimed the money on grounds it had been hidden there by her father.

The Lewises and Mrs. Best divided the find.

Gives Report On Convention

T. H. Yount Tells of One by Kiwanis At Miami, Florida

What transpired at the Kiwanis International convention in Miami, Florida, was the background of a talk by vice president T. H. Yount, convention delegate, reporting to the Sedalia club at its meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

He told of experiences on the road to Miami along which many towns having Kiwanis club entertained or greeted the traveling club members.

The convention stressed the theme: "Aggressive Citizenship, the Safeguard of Freedom." Mr. Yount outlined in brief the various subjects by prominent national speakers, reports of progress of Kiwanis now with 3,127 clubs and 199,157 members, the election of officers, proposed future activities and past accomplishments of Kiwanis International. Next year the convention will be in St. Louis.

Eighth For Mr. Yount
The Miami convention was the eighth attended by Mr. Yount and Mrs. Yount.

Bert Hathaway called attention to another city recreation program activity, the organization of twilight softball league teams among the Sedalia service clubs. He was given assurance that the Kiwanis club would have a team in the league, providing pitchers were changed every inning.

Best was presented a shell encased coconut brought back from Miami by Mr. Yount.

William Ward was program chairman in place of E. W. McClammer who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Joan M. Rosenthal was today's club pianist during the singing program.

Paul Maxwell was a guest of Arthur Morgan.

Counterfeit $10 Bills Found In St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 1—(AP)—Two more counterfeit $10 bills were found here today, bringing to five the total of such bogus currency uncovered in the past 24 hours.

Police said they were checking reports that the counterfeit silver certificates were being passed by a woman about 23 or 24 years old. All of the bills carry the serial number B2879879A; the back plate number is 1177, and the front plate number K217.

World Closer To Peace Says Truman

Disagrees Again With Gallup Poll Which Predicts War

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—President Truman said today he does not agree at all with those who expect war in five years.

On the contrary, he added with emphasis, he believes the world is closer to permanent peace than at any time in the last five years.

The President was asked at a news conference to comment on a Gallup poll which a reporter said showed a majority of Americans expect war by 1955.

For Permanent Peace
He replied promptly that he does not agree with that at all. He said he is doing everything possible to prevent war of any kind and to make the United Nations work for permanent peace.

Then, he expressed the belief that the world is closer to that goal than at any time in five years. He said he thought he had made that clear on his western speaking trip last month. He did not elaborate.

Turning to politics, the President said he did not care about driving anybody out of the Democratic party—a statement that might appear to conflict somewhat with one of several weeks ago when he said he wanted Democratic as well as Republican "obstructionists" in Congress defeated this fall. He defined an obstructionist then as one who is against all measures proposed for the welfare of the people.

Today he was asked about a statement by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) which a reporter said invited liberal Republicans to join the Democratic party, with the implication that Conservative Democrats should join the Conservative Republicans.

Mr. Truman replied he thinks the Democratic party would like to have all the votes it can get and he doesn't care about driving anybody out of the party.

No Comment On GOP
Then, his comment was sought on a statement today by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) that she did not want the Republican party to win by riding the four-horsemen of fear, bigotry, ignorance, and smear.

Smiling, Mr. Truman said he wouldn't like to make a comment as strong as that about the Republican party.

The President said he had offered every possible cooperation today to the Senate crime investigating committee headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

He added he had asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the income tax returns themselves, as well as information from them, could be turned over to the committee.

While not saying so directly, Mr. Truman indicated that when Rear Admiral R. H. Hillemeier, now director of the Central Intelligence Agency, returns to Navy duty, he would name Lieut. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former ambassador to Moscow, as the new intelligence chief.

Smith recently returned to his command of the First Army at Governor's Island, N. Y. after undergoing surgery for ulcers at Walter Reed hospital here.

Russia Walks Out of Council

LAKE SUCCESS, June 1—(AP)—Russia walked out of the United Nations trusteeship council today after failing on a new effort to oust the Chinese Nationalists.

The number of U. N. organs affected by the Soviet walkout strikes remained at 28, however, since the trusteeship council previously had been boycotted by Russia at its winter meeting in Geneva.

Nine Die in a Crash of Plane

QUONSET, R. I., June 1—(AP)—Nine Navy men perished today when a twin-engine patrol plane crashed and burned at this naval air base while making an emergency landing.

The plane was reported enroute to Argentina, Newfoundland, when engine trouble developed 23 minutes after leaving here.

Commander Raymond Glasgow, in charge of public information, said the pilot and co-pilot escaped. The remainder of the crew was trapped in the blazing plane as a rescue crew stood by unable to reach them.

Russia Slows Down Western Motor Traffic

In Retaliation for 'Mistreatment' of Blue Shirt Youths

BERLIN, June 1—(AP)—Russia slowed down western motor traffic today in reported retaliation for "mistreatment" of German communist youngsters at Luebeck on their return from the Soviet East Berlin Red rally.

A Reprisal Measure
Truck drivers stalled by border guards at the Helmstedt highway checkpoint said the Russians told them the slow-down was a reprisal measure.

Meanwhile the West Berlin assembly rejected Soviet demands for concessions as conditions for unifying Berlin. The West German parliament at Bonn called for an investigation of a suspected kidnapping of one of its members by Russian zone communists.

The young communists ended their sit-down strike at Luebeck during the day.

From midnight to 5 a.m. only one truck an hour was passed to or from Berlin, West German police reported. Normally, 15 or more pass through each hour.

The Soviet-licensed ADN news agency charged yesterday that western police were mistreating the youths who camped along the border and defied police orders to register and take medical tests before returning to west Germany.

End Their Sitdown
About 10,000 youngsters, after refusing for 38 hours to obey police orders, ended their sitdown, submitting to physical examinations and giving their names to West German authorities.

Cold weather broke the will of the youths who had planned to camp for eight days in defiance of the police. They started coming across the border at Luebeck peacefully this morning.

The blue-shirted boys and girls gave in after a cold night during which they heaped straw bedding on camp fires trying to keep warm. German doctors, who gave them quick examinations for any possible contagious diseases they may have picked up in crowded Berlin, found no illness among the youths, police said.

To Tired to Sing
Along the rest of the east-west border other weary youths were straggling home, too tired now to sing communist songs or show any of the animation that marked their arrival in Berlin last week.

West Berlin gave refuge to 250 Soviet zone members of the "Free German Youth" (FDJ) during the past week, it was announced officially. Five hundred other East Germans, without FDJ affiliation, also fled to West Berlin in the same period as "political refugees."

The Whitson rally produced a clue to the fate of the American Navy privateer plane lost recently in the Baltic.

The United States high commission newspaper, Neue Zeitung, said a Soviet fighter pilot attending the rally talked indiscreetly of the privateer incident in replying to a vodka toast.

The paper said Erich Honecker, chairman of the East German youth organization, toasted the Soviet pilot, Alesei Merseseyev, who is regarded as a Russian hero, in these words:

"May all U.S.A. flyers go the way the 'Privateer' crew."

"Under the influence of numerous vodkas, the paper said, Merseseyev answered:

"That was the first air victory."

Mystery Death Still Unsolved

JOPLIN, Mo., June 1—(AP)—An inquest into the mysterious death of Miss Gwendolyn Creekmore in her Joplin mansion wound up last night without a verdict.

A coroner's jury, acknowledging it was baffled, adjourned until it receives tests of the vital organs of the 49-year-old woman, adopted daughter of a wealthy Oklahoma.

The burned and beaten body of Miss Creekmore, a divorcee, was found Sunday.

Lee Moxley, 43, a friend of Miss Creekmore, was released by police on orders of Dale Troutelot, prosecuting attorney. Moxley was given five detector tests yesterday, but they failed to connect him in any way with her death.

Asks Big Sum For Arms Aid

President Seeks $1,222,500,000 in Second Year to Promote Peace

WASHINGTON, June 1—(AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to provide $1,222,500,000 for a second year of the arms aid program.

He said delay in supplying the money might "strike a fatal blow at all our efforts to create the kind of peace which the free world seeks and would lessen our chances of continuing to live and work in freedom."

The fund would finance arms shipments to more than a dozen foreign nations, including Atlantic pact allies, during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The $1,222,500,000 requested by Mr. Truman is slightly less than the $1,314,010,000 which Congress appropriated last year to help 13 nations rearm against Communism.

Mr. Truman made the request in his first semi-annual report to Congress on the handling of the first year program, which began last fall.

Backing up his request, Mr. Truman said: "The momentum already gained must under no circumstances be lost, because, once lost, it is doubtful that it can ever be recaptured at any cost."

How It Would Be Spent
The President gave this breakdown as to how the new money would be spent:

NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY NATIONS—$1,000,000,000. This would go for weapons

see you at the Country Club

The dirt is flying at the club and ordinarily I'd say it's got to stop, but it's for a good cause. The space around the pool is to be filled in even with the club house and then Herb Bopp, our grounds keeper, will landscape it. Incidentally, doesn't he do a beautiful job? I guess I appreciate it more since trying to get some grass—yes, some grass, on my yard. The greens look artificial because they are so perfect. We have a committee in charge of the grounds composed of the chairman, John Martin, and members, Leon Archias, H. J. Courtney, W. F. Keyser, Harold Yunker and L. C. Yunker. Of course, Dr. J. C. Cannaday is greens counselor and has been for many years. It takes many years and much work to get the results obtained.

The lucky winners Ladies Day, Thursday, were, in canasta, Mrs. J. C. McLaughlin and Mrs. Austin Hurley, in bridge, Mrs. C. R. Bothwell, and in mah jongg, Mrs. Herman Bloess. A luncheon was served at 1:00 o'clock.

Square dancing has been discontinued for the summer but it will be resumed again the first of October. We'd like to start supper dancing for Saturday night and the rhumba, samba, and round dancing can come into their own. The club will buy some new records and then we as individuals can add to the collection as we go along. We still have the juke box but this other plan will give us more variety. Let's give Saturday night more thought for the summer.

There will be a handicap golf tournament held Tuesday. This is Memorial Day so if you haven't planned a trip out of town join in the fun here at home. Steak and chicken served on short notice! Ladies Golf day is usually held on Tuesday but because of Memorial Day and the tournament, the ladies will not be able to play. However, come out anyway and see the tournament and HEAR how the game SHOULD be played.

Mrs. Carrie Hodges, our chairman, has received a letter from Mrs. Waldo Proctor, chairman from Columbia, Sedalia Country Club has been invited to join the Women's Inter-City Golf teams, composed of Columbia, Jefferson City and Mexico. On June 20th they are holding what they call "Central Missouri Field Day." She has asked that we send from one to 50 players, good and bad. There will be awards for all classes and quite a lot of activity. A buffet luncheon will be served. To make up our team we must get our handicaps in and the deadline is June 10th. Please turn your score in to Norman Scotten. Remember, 36 holes. If you don't play golf—get a group together to go anyway. You can have lunch and get acquainted. Many of this same group will be coming to our club soon.

Ladies Day tournament will be June 6th. Special events have been planned for this day also. This announcement is made again for the benefit of the men. No heckling—please!

The caddies are well organized this year due to the concentrated efforts of Vic Scott, Phil Costello, Bill Gibson, Tom Jenkins and Jim Norlin. The new caddie master is Pete Williams. He's a mighty fine boy and well liked by the caddies as well as the members. Each boy has been given a button with a number and they will go out according to these numbers. After each round of 18 holes they are graded for their politeness and efficiency by the players for whom they caddy. This scoring places them in class A, B, or C, according to the way in which they conduct themselves. Each golfer pays Pete and he in turn pays the caddies. The caddies all get a chance to play the course each Monday morning. Who can tell—someday we may have some mighty fine golf members from this bunch.

She was attended by her twin sister, Miss Jane Robinson, who

I suppose you've noticed the train derailed along the tracks close to the club. There have been many explanations but I feel called upon to put my two cents worth in. Just between you and me—the engineer got off the track because he was so busy trying to see what is going on at the club." B. V. D.

Airport Sells Saturday For $53,542.50

Permit Use Until New Field Is Completed

The 885 acres of the Sedalia Airport land were sold at public auction Saturday afternoon in front of the Pettis county court house with Kemp Hieronymus as auctioneer. The land went to J. L. Hieronymus of Buffalo, Okla., at $60.50 an acre. An exceptionally large crowd attended.

The total amount of the eight separate tracts of land bought $53,542.50. The buyer said he had no definite plans for the land and commented he thought it looked pretty good when he drove around it a few days ago. Mr. Hieronymus owns 11,000 acres near Buffalo and was born and lived his early life near Longwood. He left there when he was 17 years of age.

Emory Ellsworth, chairman of building and grounds committee, read off the individual tracts first and individual bids were made. The tracts were described and various features pointed out.

Field Still Be Used

Mr. Hieronymus made an agreement with Mr. Ellsworth, representing the city, that the present flying field may be used until the new airport, east of Sedalia is ready for occupancy.

Ellsworth said he was elated over the results of the auction and wished to thank the many people who were interested that turned out and made bids. He added that the progress on the new airport can be carried out now that the land has been sold.

An explanation of the sale was offered by the committee chairman shortly before the sale. City clerk, J. M. Bailey served as clerk for the sale and recorded all bids. Mayor Studer said "the bid of $53,542.50 appears to be satisfactory and I feel confident that in all probability it will meet the approval of the city council."

Asks Damages of $3,000 in Suit

A $3,000 damage suit was filed in circuit court, Saturday by Frank Adams and Venetie Adams, against Guy Thompson, trustee of the Missouri Pacific railroad company.

The plaintiffs contend in the suit that they own a tract of land, and that the railroad of defendant runs along on the south side of plaintiffs' premises.

Plaintiffs further assert that on March 30, 1950, a certain locomotive in charge of defendant was in use of the railroad and that defendant allowed sparks of fire to escape from the locomotive and to set fire to a barn which contained one cow, one calf, one horse, and one bridle, the property of plaintiffs, and thereby totally consumed the barn and other property to their damage in the sum of $3,000.

George L. Stevens Out for Congress

George L. Stevens, 29-year-old Springfield accountant, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Sixth district, opened his campaign Saturday here in Sedalia. Stevens, invited to attend the Women's Sixth District Republican club, flew from his home to Sedalia to attend—but was forced down on the Wilkerson farm, south of Sedalia on highway 65.

Stevens had just brought his plane in for a safe landing, when Walter White, Lincoln, drove up and offered his services in bringing the youthful pilot and his companion Dave Hargis, representative of KGBX Springfield radio station, into Sedalia.

The young candidate attended the women's meeting, gave a short address, and then hurried back to his plane to return to his home before midnight.

At the meeting Stevens told party members "1950 is the year for Republicans to produce a Republican congressman from the Sixth district. It is this to be done a lot of work and faith in prospect, while a few of the party members should be shaken out of their pessimism."

Stevens laid the cards on the table and made an attack on intemperance squabbling. "If the voters have lost faith in Republican leadership, it can be laid at the doorstep of some of those leaders. This is the time," he said, "for honest, sincere, and smiling leadership, not schoolmaster tactics of the 'bitch switch'."

Young Stevens is a veteran of World War II, having served for forty-two months as a First Lieutenant in the Marine Corps as a pilot. He has announced his intention of barnstorming the Sixth district by plane in an endeavor of contacting as many people as possible in behalf of his candidacy. He is married and the father of three children.

Stevens is opposed in the Republican campaign by O. K. Armstrong, and Prof. Wilbur Bothwell, both of Springfield, and Harvey D. Dow, of Sedalia.

Old Railway Station Has Long History - Plans for New

A transition from the flamboyant style of architecture of the 1800's to the modernistic structure of today, is about to begin for the Missouri Pacific Lines passenger station in Sedalia.

The same foundation and various skeleton parts of the building will be used in the modernizing for a new station, which is to be a one-story building.

C. A. Rucker, construction foreman for the Missouri Pacific and railroad workers, started on the job last week, clearing away the old station, removing telephones, office furniture, supplies, wiring, etc., in preparation of tearing down the second story, starting about June 1.

A permit to re-model the depot was obtained Friday. The permit called for the removal of the upper story, to re-model the lower floor completely; also removal of the present frame express office building to the east of the depot, and replacing it with a masonry construction building. The estimated cost is $55,000. Employees of the Missouri Pacific railroad company will do the construction work.

The actual details of construction was not known by local sources, as blue prints have not arrived yet. However, it was explained by Rucker that the second story would be torn down in sections and re-built accordingly.

Work is scheduled to start on the west side of the depot. The first portion to be torn down will be a section of the roof on the west side. It was explained by tearing down and re-building by sections, the depot would continue to be operated during re-construction.

Shift of Office Quarters

Some of the personnel from the upper story now have their offices located in a small brick building a few feet north of the depot. These offices will be maintained there until the new station is completed. These temporary offices are quartered in what used to be the telegraph supply room years ago.

A railroad official of St. Louis wrote that the new station will be a modernized, one-story building predominantly of brick construction with metal trim. There will be a canopy of aluminum extending along the front of the structure across the waiting room doors and letters spelling the station name will be of the cutout metal variety.

The new building will contain the usual ticket offices and waiting rooms found in all passenger terminals. In addition there will be office space for the traffic department representatives, the claim agent, readmaster, and special agent. Crew quarters also will be provided and these will be special rooms for mail, baggage and express.

Platforms at trackside will be raised and repaved, the paving probably being asphalt. Instead of the present drive-way on the west side of the depot, will be a four-way drive-way, with a sidewalk running adjacent with the drive. On the east side of the depot, a parking lot for company employees, and a drive-way for mail and express trucks is contemplated.

Old Coal Stoves To Go

The 18 coal stoves, used during the winter months to heat the depot will be replaced with gas heating. New furniture is also planned for the station. Automatic signal gates are contemplated for the crossings at Kentucky and Ohio avenues.

Dwelling upon the past while looking through the 10 rooms upstairs, which were partitioned off at one time (believed by old timers to have been used for hotel rooms) railroad workers brought out much of the history enfolded in the present depot, which was built in 1836, after the Garrison House used for the depot burned down in 1834. One person remarked that Jesse James slept in the depot at one time. In addition to the rooms upstairs, where plaster has fallen from the ceilings, there is a solid walnut banister adjacent to the stairway, and a large vault, which was utilized in keeping important records in, years ago.

Some Past History

Following is past history, surrounding the present site of the history of Pettis County, 1882: "On the night of November 6, 1886 occurred the most destructive fire that had thus far befallen the city of Sedalia. In this fire all the buildings on the north side of Main street, from the middle of the block, westward to Osage avenue, and the handsome and spacious McKissock House, which was also the depot, caught fire."

"The Garrison House, formerly called the Ives House, in honor of its first manager, was completed in 1863, and occupied the site of the old McKissock House. It was owned by the Missouri Pacific Railroad company, and was also the Union depot. The building was worth $28,000."

Another interesting paragraph found in the book was, "In 1881, the total value of railroad property in Sedalia, including real estate, Missouri Pacific Railroad shops, K and T Division shops, General Hospital, Superintendent and Dispatcher's office, Union Stock Yards and miscellaneous buildings was $250,000."

Writes of Old Stations

Announcement that Sedalia is to have a new Missouri Pacific railway station impelled M. J. Collins of 315 West Fifth street, one of Pettis county's residents, who through all his years has watched development in various ways, and especially the railways

Indicate Gain In Population

Belated Chance to Add to Total of Residents Here

Sedalia's 1950 population is still in the questionable bracket. Striving to increase the population of 1940 which was 20,428 Sedalians who have not been contacted are still requested to contact the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce office or phone 893. Unofficial reports received in Sedalia first have Sedalia over the 20,000 mark while on the other had reports received indicate Sedalia is slightly under the 20,000.

O. P. Keller, supervisor of the census in the Sixth congressional district, was a visitor in Sedalia Saturday, and indicated he was confident Sedalia would show an increase—providing everybody is contacted and those who haven't been contacted would let it be known.

The edit of the enumerators records for Sedalia has not been completed, Mr. Keller stated, but during the past ten days enumerators have been at work endeavoring to pickup persons who were not contacted by an enumerator. Through the notices carried in the newspapers and calls made to the Chamber of Commerce it was possible to pick up more than 500 persons in Sedalia.

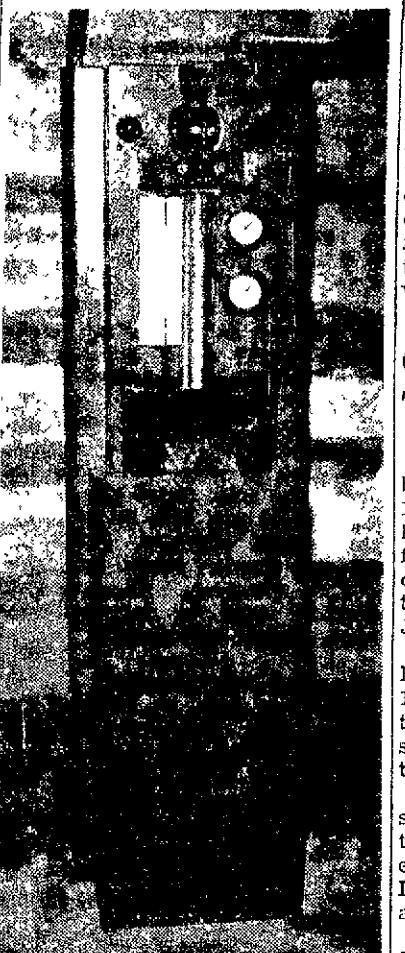

Still Change In Count

Mr. Keller said that during the enumeration there no doubt were a number of Sedalians who may have been away on a winter vacation, and those persons should call the Chamber of Commerce, or even better drop a card to the Census Bureau at Springfield, and they will be sent the proper cards to be filled out so they can be counted.

The figures to be released at Springfield the coming week will not necessarily be official because added to the Springfield compilation of figures will be others which went direct to Washington such as those picked up through hospitals, hotel and other checks made by the enumerators during the census period.

Mr. Keller would not venture a guess on the census outcome here.

Osteopaths Complete Court Case

Seek Judgement to See if Osteopaths Can Use Hospital

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—(AP)—Attorneys for Missouri osteopaths read into the court record today thousands of words written by early day osteopaths, trying to show they did not depend upon manipulative therapy alone in their healing.

After two days the osteopaths had almost completed their side of the circuit court argument. They contend they should be allowed to practice in Audrain county hospital at Mexico, Mo., just as medical doctors do.

The case revolves around a 52-year-old Missouri statute which reads in part:

Although the law has been on Missouri's statute books all those years, it has never been enforced.

And osteopaths, generally, combined surgery, obstetrics and the use of drugs with manipulative therapy in their practice.

Trustees of the Audrain county hospital are seeking a judgment to settle whether they must allow osteopaths to treat patients in the hospital. Until now the institution has been open to medical doctors.

Grisly Mystery In N. Y. Solved

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—The grisly mystery of a dismembered body, parts of which were found in widely scattered sections of Brooklyn and the Borough of Queens, was listed as solved today.

Police said Mrs. Elizabeth Houston, 42, a Negro, admitted killing her common law husband with an axe and then slicing away parts of the body with a carving knife because it wouldn't fit in a small trunk.

The trunk containing the torso was found by a group of boys in a Jamaica, Queens, swamp. A neatly wrapped package of human flesh was found in a Brooklyn street. Six other packages, police said, were dropped into ashcans.

The dismembered body was identified as that of John Fletcher, 35, after he was reported missing by his employer, Armour & Co. The six-foot 250-pound negro was a meat handler in the company's Jersey City, N. J., plant.

Mrs. Houston, a short, 250-pound household worker, was arrested last night in Harlem. Police said she told them she killed Fletcher in a quarrel over his practice of bringing friends home to play poker.

Body in River For 25 Days Is Recovered

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—(AP)—Twenty-five days after Merrill Snell, 35, drowned in the Lake of the Ozarks his body was recovered, floating at the surface several miles from the scene of the accident.

The body was found yesterday near Bagnell dam which forms the big lake. Snell, a Jefferson City hoisting engineer for a construction firm, drowned in a strange accident May 6.

He and his four-year-old son, Mark, were riding alone in an outboard powered boat.

Then fishermen nearby noticed the boat making tight circles at high speed. They saw no one in the boat and rushed to the area.

The son was rescued but Snell's body could not be found.

Attack Both Parties on Their Furore

Woman Member Of Senate Delivers A Blistering Talk

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(AP)—Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), the Senate's only woman member, today delivered a blistering attack in the Senate against both Republicans and Democrats for their tactics in the furore over charges of Communism in the government.

Playing Into Reds Hands

"The American people are sick and tired," she said, "of seeing innocent people smeared and guilty people whitewashed."

Both sides, she said, are "playing directly into the Communist design of 'confuse, divide and conquer.'"

Without mentioning Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), she said the Republicans can find enough campaign issues in the record of the "ineffective" Truman administration without resorting to "political smears."

"The nation sorely needs a Republican victory," she said, "but I don't want to see the Republican party ride to political victory on the four horsemen of calumny—fear, ignorance, bigotry and smear."

Criticism Highlights The Day

The criticism by Mrs. Smith highlighted a day which saw these related developments:

1. Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) charged on the Senate floor that the wartime magazine Amerasia was a Communist "transmission belt" used in an attempt to sway policy-making decisions of the state department.

Knowland accused the Democratic-controlled Senate inquiry committee headed by Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of hiding much of the testimony taken behind closed doors in the re-opened investigation into the Amerasia case of 1945.

2. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) told the Senate that Alger Hiss, former high state department official, probably brought pressure to bear in 1945 to delay action against those involved in the Amerasia case.

Youth Makes Plea For His Friends

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—Chill Maples, 19, and Zenos Booker, 18, faced the police judge today, charged with speeding 50 miles an hour.

Judge Charles T. Given asked them if they had anything to say in their defense. They replied No.

Up from the audience jumped David A. Leonard, 17, who said he had a few remarks to make. Leonard, who was on the debate team in high school, said it would have been impossible for his friends to attain the speeds charged. One was driving a 1933 model car; the other a 1937 model.

"I have known these two persons for many years and I know them both to be of good character," Leonard said.

Judge Given smiled. Commenting on Leonard's oratory, the judge said, "You'd better watch your step or we will have you down here for practicing law without a license."

"I have to practice law in this case, Judge," replied Leonard. "I have six dollars invested in the bond money."

The judge fined the defendants $5 each plus costs, but refunded the bond money of $15 each.

Convicted of Killing The Man She Loved

FRANKFORT, Ind., June 1.—(AP)—A Clinton Circuit Court jury tonight convicted Mrs. Frankie Miller, 29-year-old divorcee, of manslaughter in the shotgun death of Leland Holliday, 39, the man she said loved her and left her.

Frankie sobbed as the verdict was read and continued to sob as she was led from the courtroom. The conviction carries a sentence of two to 21 years in prison. Sentencing was set for Monday by Judge Fred Campbell.

She had been charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Holliday in his apartment last March 19. The trial started May 22.

She was pictured by the prosecution as a woman "with a black heart, filled with hatred and spite," who had coldly planned the killing. The defense called her a woman wronged, who had lived with her man as his wife and had expected to marry him.

A defense lawyer said Mrs. Miller reluctantly bared her heart at a private session yesterday to show jurors the cigarette burns she blamed onto Holliday. A prosecutor told the jurors the burns might have been self-inflicted.

"She had loved Holliday since she was 17," said Hollis Davidson, a defense attorney. "She loved him so much she couldn't give him up and when she took his life she was in such a mental state she didn't know what she was doing."

State Chicken Contest Today

The finals of the 1950 Kansas State Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest will be held here today according to Prof. Quinton B. Kinder, chairman.

More than thirty of the state's leading poultry breeders will compete for the state title that will send the winner to the north central states regional contest at Chicago later this month.

The Kansas contest is part of the national Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest being conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with A & P Food Stores. The goal of the program is to improve poultry breeds, and obtain a bird with more white meat and less bone at a more tender age.

At Producer's Produce

Today's contest will be held at the Producer's Produce Company, 226 W. Pacific street. Judging is scheduled to begin at ten o'clock this morning and winners will be announced during a luncheon at the Bothwell hotel.

On hand to present the trophy to the top winner, and the Kansas entry in the regional event, will be H. C. Weddendorf of Kansas City vice president of A & P Food Stores. The contest bids, with the exception of the winning flock, will be purchased by A & P and marketed locally.

The national program is scheduled to climax in 1951 when the winners of this year's regional events will compete for the grand championship and the $5,000 prize that is offered by A & P.

St. Louis Girl is Killed Near Miami

MIAMI, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—A Barry college freshman—daughter of a wealthy St. Louis brewer—was killed and two classmates injured last night when the convertible in which they were riding overturned about 75 miles west of Miami.

Dead was Anne Greisdieck, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin F. Greisdieck, of (Squires Lane) Humbleigh Village, Kirkwood, Mo., a fashionable suburb of St. Louis.

Greisdieck is president and general manager of the Falstaff Brewing Corp., St. Louis.

Donna Kelly, 19, of Chicago, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Kelly, was in critical condition at Jackson Memorial hospital suffering from head injuries.

Nancy Lee O'Brien, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Brien, of Oak Park, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, suffered less serious injuries.

The Rev. Cyril W. Burke, chaplain at Barry Catholic college, said the girls were enroute to Naples, Fla., where Miss Greisdieck planned to meet her parents and were flying down from St. Louis in their private plane. The Greisdieck family has a winter home at Naples.

Father Burke said he talked with Miss O'Brien at the hospital today and she told him she was driving.

"What Miss O'Brien told me," he said, "indicated that Miss Kelly was dozing and awakened suddenly, as if she had a dream in which another car was bearing down on the convertible. She reached for the steering wheel and the car swerved and overturned."

Attempts to Kill Her Chinese Baby

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—An attractive American woman, married to a Chinese, shot and critically wounded her four-year-old daughter today, police said, because she thought people were making fun of the child's oriental features.

"I didn't want my little girl to suffer and be pushed around the way I have been," Mrs. Emma Rose Curtis Tom, 39, told officers. She did not elaborate.

She was taken to Bellevue hospital for mental observation. The child, Toy Tom, in another wing of the hospital, was reported in very poor condition with a .32 calibre bullet in the right temple.

Mrs. Tom, police said, shot the child as she slept in her crib in their upper East side apartment—wrapping the pistol in a towel so the cold metal would not touch the little girl's skin. After the shooting, Mrs. Tom ran to the apartment of a neighbor who called the police.

Her court-assigned lawyer, Benjamin Schmier, said the woman had felt a growing sense of desperation, complicated by the prospect of a divorce from her husband, James Tom, a waiter.

"It was the maddened love of a mother that caused this act," Schmier told Magistrate Vernon C. Riddick. "After she shot the child, and realized it was to live she came to the conclusion she had bungled. Psychiatrists may well determine that this was the act of a tormented mind."

A Short Ride for Boonville Escapees

BOONVILLE, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—It was a long ride for nothing for three of the eight inmates who escaped last night from the Missouri State Training school.

Taken from a freight train here at noon today, they told Marshall Layton Miller that they had hopped a westbound Missouri Pacific freight last night after they and their companions had broken from show formation at the school.

They rode to Independence, Mo., where they got off and boarded an eastbound freight for St. Louis. Police found them as the train stopped here.

The youths were Richard Dunn, 16, Annapolis; Tilden F. Paul, 17, Festus; and Robert Wiggington, 14, Kansas City.

Earlier in the day three others were retaken near Lupus, Mo. They were James Kennedy, 15, and Emilio Santoyo, 15, both of St. Louis, and William Muskey,

Inside a Junior Gang: A War Councilor, Lots of Hoodlums And a Few Criminals

DEMONSTRATION OF TERROR: These Chicago youths enact the roles of victim, slagger and roller to show the mugging technique practiced by teen-age "wolf packs."

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

The homemade "zip-gun" shown at right is a dangerous symbol of the junior gangs running wild in the nation's cities today. With it go brawls and terrorism, crime and even killing. Here's the third of four dispatches that tell the story of teens on the rampage in America, how the gangs operate, what authorities think is the cause, and what they think can be done about it.

Freddie had heard of the Nits and Robins in a vague way. He knew they were kid gangs, and that his block was mid-way between the two gangs' home territories. And he knew that all the older boys belonged to either one or the other.

But that meeting was his first actual contact with the gang. And, a few weeks later, he had drifted run by about four boys, "the clique." There is a leader and two or three lieutenants—called "Ace Men"—but the real leader is the war councilor. It is he who meets with the other gangs' war councilors and arranges the site and rules of gang fights, called "rumbles."

He is also responsible for making peace terms and setting territorial boundaries. All the leaders are chosen for a combination of toughness and ability to out-think the other gangs in "rumble" strategy.

The "part-time" members, like Freddie Horton was for several years, are merely called on in case of fights. Sometimes the leaders ask them to run errands, too. In return, these boys get gang protection.

Freddie soon discovered that it was expected of him to have a weapon. Some of the older boys bought real pistols from pawn shops. Nowadays, they try to beg or steal war souvenir guns. But those who can't still do what Freddie did at first—they make their own.

These so-called "zip guns" are potent weapons at short distances. Originally, the term came from adapting a toy designed to launch model airplanes, but it has come to mean any home-made pistol. They can be made from a variety of materials, but the favorite is fashioned from pieces of wood carved to look like a gun barrel, with a piece of pipe just the size to take a bullet—such as automobile radio antenna pipe—fastened on top with heavy tape.

Strong elastic bands and some metal object, like a screen door hook, provide the firing power. The pipe has no rifling, of course, so the zip guns' accuracy is poor. But they can fire; they can also kill—and they have.

Cap pistols, too, can be converted to take bullets. And the inventive kid gangsters long ago discovered that handles from milk cans and garbage pails make effective substitutes for brass knuckles.

Some gang members, Freddie soon found, are actual criminals, not just anti-social hoodlums. They go in for muggings and stealing cars and sometimes armed robbery. But it isn't accurate to assume that all gang members are automatically criminals. The majority, in fact, live within the law, but there are a few in every gang who don't.

Similarly, Freddie, like most of the Nits, never used drugs. But there were three boys he knew of in the gang who did—they smoked "reefers," or marijuana. Drug addition, police say, is on the rise. Freddie and all the others smoked cigarettes, however, and they all went for "sneaky Pete," or whiskey.

It didn't take the young, impressionable Freddie long to learn the gang's own vernacular, just as he learned their peculiar habit of walking with an exaggerated limp.

Pretty soon, he was talking like this: "Hey, citizen, how about investigating a session tonight? I hear they got some sneaky Pete." (Translation: Hey, friend, how about going to a party tonight? I hear they've got some whiskey.)

And the answer might be: "Nah, they're robbers and we might get vented, dig me? And I ain't carrying a lighter." (Translation: No, they're gang members and we might get shot, Freddie finally quit the Nits, when he decided they weren't good for him. Since then, he and his younger brother have been threatened by his own gang as well as the Nits' mortal enemies, the Robins. But he intends to stick by his decision to remain outside.

Most of the gang members, however, are in for life—or death.

gang's section, or else they'd race through in a taxicab or stolen car. The councilor might next decide on a quick raid, designed to beat up a few of the opposition as an object lesson. Or he'd plan an actual organized fight, in which case he'd contact the other gang's war councilor, under a truce, and set up actual time and place and rules for a full-scale war.

Bridal Gowns of Earlier Days Modeled Before the BPWC

dress was of white satin with log-on-mutton sleeves, high neck and tight waist and full skirt with train.

Miss Velma Thomas modeled with wedding suit of Mrs. E. F. Yancey, which was a tan shade. The jacket came to the waistline and was double breasted and the wide, long skirt formed a little train in the back. This was a fashion of 1902.

The formal wedding dress of 1918 was short, coming just about six inches above the ankle. The gown, belonging to Mrs. Joe Reed, was worn by Miss Mary Shanks, and was of chiffon and satin made with a tunic on which was a wide band of white satin. The three-quarter length veil was held in place with lily-of-the-valley across the front.

Mrs. N. L. Nelson modeled a gown she purchased in Paris, France, when she was abroad in 1933. It was of cream lace and with it she wore a jacket of red and black brocade taffeta, which was purchased at the same time.

Mrs. E. L. Miller modeled with white satin and lace wedding dress worn by Mrs. Charles Maggard in 1935, which was little different than the wedding dresses of today with tight waist, high neckline and long full skirt with train. The fingertip veil was attached to a bonnet of the same material.

Mrs. John Welch modeled her own wedding dress of 1947. A floor length blue crepe with wide gold belt.

Mrs. C. N. Huddleston, a bride of early 1949, wore her own wedding gown of white satin with double satin bertha forming the off shoulder effect of the net yolk. The full skirt was over hoops and lengthened into a long train and her fingertip veil was held in place by lily-of-the-valley. Miss Marchea Malone modeled the latest bridal gown worn in late 1949 by Mrs. Albert Young. It was of white satin and lace.

Be at Fair Grounds

Sedalia's Circus Day is drawing near and John F. Zander, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that the Sedalia Promotional Fund benefits chiefly from advance ticket sales.

The Chamber of Commerce brings the Mid-Century edition of the Mills Bros. three ring circus to the state fair grounds for two performances, one day only, Wednesday, June 14th.

"To give the utmost help to the fund, we urge patrons not to wait and obtain tickets on Circus Day. Fifty per cent of adult ticket proceeds now goes towards the Sedalia Promotional Fund, but only 10% of show day sales apply locally," Mr. Zander says. There is no advance in price for tickets obtained now.

Besides this fund, in cooperation with business houses and individual "Circus Daddies," the local group will make it possible for needy youngsters to attend the matinee circus performance as guests. "We want to see to it that every kiddie who otherwise could not afford to attend a major three-ring circus this year gets a chance to attend the Chamber of Commerce Circus. On behalf of our organization and on behalf of the hundreds of kiddies who will be taken to the circus, we want to thank all who have cooperated in this phase of the campaign."

Mills Bros., the world's largest motorized circus, is celebrating its 11th annual national tour. The mid-century edition program high lights handicapped circus stars from 18 nations, including several English and European troupes that have never appeared in this country. The circus also carries a menagerie, and animals including a troupe of performing elephants, trained dogs and riding monkeys. There are also aerialists, daring riding, trampoline and high pole experts, clowns, wire walker and all of Circusdom's favorites from America, England, China, South Africa, Holland, France, Switzerland and other nations.

Medals Presented To a Researcher

NAGASAKI, June 2—(AP)—Dr. Takashi Nagai, dying from effects of the 1945 atom bombing of this city and from his subsequent research, was presented two of Japan's highest medals yesterday. The Nagasaki University pathologist received the Emperor's silver trophy and the prime minister's citation in a bedside ceremony. Nagai has written books on the effects of radioactivity as observed on himself.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round Secretary Johnson Plants Friends in Lush Posts

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of Defense Louey Johnson is not only a good national defense economist, a good political money-raiser, but good at passing out juicy plums to his friends.

One of the juiciest, but little-noticed plums in government is the giant German corporation, General Aniline and firm, seized by the United States during the war, and now operated by the justice department supposedly for the benefit of all the taxpayers. Thanks to Louey's adroit wire-pulling, however, it is being operated also for the benefit of some of Louey's friends.

First Louey has contrived to have his law firm succeed him as counsel for the German corporation, and they received a total of $64,500 last year. It should be noted that Louey's firm, Steptoe and Johnson, is one of the best in the east and does a highly competent job.

It should also be noted that before Louey became secretary of defense, and while he, himself, was counsel for General Aniline, he used it as a sort of roosting ground for friends. Several of them kicked into the Truman Kitty when Louey was collecting money during the 1948 campaign.

Dye Experts??

Meanwhile, General Aniline's profits have dropped. Net earnings after taxes dropped from $8,604,919 or $11.74 a share in 1948 to $2,926,810 or $3.99 a share in 1949. Maybe politics was the reason.

Anyway, here are some of the men who run one of the biggest German companies in the world, now owned by Uncle Sam:

Jack Frye—president and chairman of the board; salary, $72,000; contribution to the Democratic party $750; ousted from Trans World Airlines, he was given the General Airline job at the urging of Bob Hannegan.

Donald O. Lincoln—director and counsel; one of Johnson's law partners; gets $100 for each monthly meeting; contributed $1,000 to Democrats.

Richard C. Patterson—U. S. ambassador to Guatemala; contributed $500; in part of the Floyd Oidium public utility hookup which is so close to Johnson.

Morton Downey—singer and entertainer for Coca-Cola; delightful personality, but not skilled as corporation director; sang at parties for David Bazelon when he handed General Aniline as property director. Bazelon later copped one of the choicest judicial plums in Washington—the court of appeals—though he had scarcely argued a case in court.

Colvin Brown—publisher of the Motion Picture Daily and friend of ex-Postmaster General Frank Walker; another delightful personality but no chemical expert.

William J. Mahaney—San Francisco attorney and Democratic bigwig; gave $5,000 to Democrats.

Other directors include: John S. Bugas, Ford Motor Company; T. Colburn Davis, Missouri Pacific Railroad; Horace C. Flanagan, New York Banker; Robert Heller, industrial engineer; Harold Church Paul, Rhode Island banker; Seton Porter, National Distillers Products Co.; James A. Purse, Jr., Dallas furniture manufacturer.

Note—two directors have experience in the chemical industry—Fred Hoffman Rhodes of Cornell University; and Cary P. Wagner, General Airline's vice president in charge of operations.

Servants of Brotherhood

The powerful house ways and means committee, burdened with tax haggardies and besieged by lobbyists, has placed the welfare of a sick negro ahead of the wealthy pressure groups.

The negro is Hughlon Greene, former committee messenger who became incurably sick last July. When news of his illness reached the committee, Congressman Mills of Arkansas, a southerner, offered a motion behind closed doors to keep Greene on the payroll. This enabled the bedridden negro to continue drawing his regular salary for nearly four months. Finally, when the committee was forced to hire a new messenger, kindly Chairman Doughton of North Carolina, another southerner, appointed a subcommittee to care of Greene. Congressman Cooper of Tennessee, Reed of New York and Woodruff of Michigan were named, and they have taken up a private collection, which they still send to Freedmen's hospital to supply their former messenger with medicine and help.

Note—the congressmen sought no publicity about their act of generosity, and this columnist discovered it only by accident.

Two Wisconsin Senators

Genial Sen. Alex Wiley of Wisconsin has had a change of heart regarding the McCarthy investigation.

In one newsletter to constituents, Wiley announced: "Quit trying to smear McCarthy and start furnishing him and the rest of us with facts about subversive individuals employed in government."

Two weeks later, after the full reaction to the McCarthy charges had reached Wiley, the senator wrote: "none of us . . . should attempt to jump to hasty conclusions about particular individuals without awaiting the filing of all the evidence on both sides of specific cases."

Under the Dome

National labor leaders are betting that the California A. F. of L. will not follow teamster Dave Beck's out-of-state wire-pulling regarding the race for attorney general. Most AFL votes are expected to go to San Francisco's district attorney Pat Brown, even though both Beck and the AFL convention plumped for Fred Howser . . . chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services committee will try to curb the powers of the secretary of the air force, who now has fewer legislative restrictions than the secretaries of the army and navy . . .

Harlem's congressman Adam Powell, who has one of the worst attendance records in congress, now boycotts the House Labor committee because of its passage of a water-down FEPC bill . . . President Truman plans to appoint Florida's senator Pepper to a top government job early next year . . . when Collier's Magazine headlined the life of Mobile's congressman Frank Boykin, they considerably omitted the fact that he was convicted in 1923 for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act . . . The politicians are still wondering how Mayor O'Dwyer let himself in for the appointment of ex-Congressman David Potts, Republican, to the New York Civil Service Commission. Potts had voted against almost everything O'Dwyer stood for. Shortly before he was to take the oath of office, O'Dwyer changed his mind.

Holiday Deaths Point Up Need For Standard Traffic Rules

By Bruce Blossait

The Memorial Day week-end produced the predicted highway slaughter across the nation. And no little part of the blame must fall upon the incredible hodge-podge of state and city laws which govern U. S. motor traffic.

No motorist who drives much beyond his own city and state boundaries could possibly hope to master the baffling variety and complexity of these rules. The states and communities could hardly do more to assure accidents—unless they set out deliberately to erect death traps on the highways.

This confusion is an old tale, but apparently it needs to be told again and again, since few governing agencies are doing anything about it. Don Eddy, writing in the June issue of American Magazine, spells out some of the absurd contradictions the average driver meets as he goes from place to place.

Speed limits range from 25 miles an hour in Missouri to no maximum at all in a dozen states.

Though the blinding glare from raised headlights is rated a prime accident cause, six states have no law requiring drivers to lower their beams when approaching other cars. Others enforce dimming regulations with widely varying efficiency.

Eddy talked to a South Dakota ranch hand who had whizzed past a stopped school bus in Nebraska, killing three children. Under Nebraska law the children had the right of way, but in South Dakota the ranch hand would have. He didn't know the Nebraska law was different.

Maine and the District of Columbia don't require even a temporary halt behind a school bus. The rest of the states offer a bewildering assortment of rules. And though most decree that school buses shall be painted yellow, they may be daubed any old color in a few states.

There are still four states which require no hand signals for turning and stopping. But a motorist will find, too, that signals which are correct in California don't fit in Michigan. Only a Philadelphia lawyer could tour the continent with assurance he was using his arm in the legal manner from state to state.

It's customary to indicate no-passing zones by painted lines on the pavement. It'd be helpful if the same markings applied everywhere, but they don't. A no-passing sector may be indicated by double lines, wavy line, broken line, yellow or white line. Pity the driver who forgoes for an instant what state he's driving in.

Examples like these could be multiplied on end. They're proof that states and cities are 'way behind the times on traffic rules.

Highway experts like to say driver education must come first, that you can't legislate safe driving. There's a large grain of truth in that, but it's not fair to ask any motorist to learn today's nonsensical pattern of traffic laws.

The National Highway Conference has drafted two uniform traffic codes, one for states and another for cities. Up to now no state has adopted the code, and only a few cities have accepted the municipal one.

Until the state and cities make real progress toward uniformity, they will sound a bit foolish asking the motorist to develop safe driving habits. How can he do that when a habit that is safe in one state is not safe in another?

On The Shelf

The Navy is pretty ingenious when it comes to devising exile for officers in disfavor.

Command of a "mothball" submarine fleet in Florida waters is the Siberia meted out to Capt. W. D. Brown, the skipper who took the battleship Missouri aground. Apparently this wraps Brown's promotion chances up in a cocoon, too.

THE TAKING OF NARCOTICS IS A FAILURE OF NERVE

(2) Discipline your unnatural desires. The outstanding unnatural desire which we must discipline is a desire for intoxicants. It is a personal and collective menace, increasingly so. In the last decade insurance rejections for heavy alcoholic indulgence have increased from 12 per cent to 34 per cent, one out of three otherwise insurable men and women were declined as unsafe risks because of drinking. (Robert S. Carroll, What Price Alcohol?) Cook County Hospital, Chicago, made an eight-year study of 3422 cases of pneumonia, ages between thirty and thirty-nine. Eighteen and four-tenths per cent of abstainers, 29.1 per cent of moderate users, and 42.5 per cent of heavy users died. Judge Harry H. Porter, Chief Justice Municipal Court, Evanston, Ill., offers his personal opinion that alcohol is involved in 60 per cent of our highway accidents, and syphilis showed 76 per cent of the men and 66 per cent of the women were infected while under the influence of alcohol. Dr. C. C. Weeks, the English authority on alcohol, cites four medical writers who name alcoholism one of the four great health scourges in modern civilization—cancer, tuberculosis, venereal diseases being the other three.

Teach moderation? It is foolish to counsel moderation in the use of a substance, the first effect of which is to weaken the power to stop. Alcohol affects the functions of the nervous system in the inverse order of their development in the individual and the race. The functions highest and last to be developed are the first to be affected by the narcotic action of alcohol. Alcohol affects first those functions which make man different from and superior to the animal.

It is not smart to drink—it is weak. It is an escape mentality, a failure of nerve. You have no resources on the inside, so you try to take them from a bottle. Only weak people drink. It is crutches for lame ducks. An Englishman, after hearing me say that, went to a bar and said, "He's right; nevertheless, give me a crutch." Remember the name—a crutch. And who it is for—a lame duck.

O God, I need nothing but Thee—the wine of Thy love, the exhilaration that comes from abiding in Thee, the sheer exuberance of spirits that results from being fully attuned to Thee, the rhythm and harmony that are mine in Thee—what need I add to this fullness to make it fuller? Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Asthma Victims Can't Put Blame On Heredity; Trouble is Caused By Breathing in Proteins

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There are many strange ideas about asthma. The first question today presents a problem that many people seem to be confused about.

Q—Is asthma hereditary? In a small child can it be cured and what causes it?

A—Asthma is not hereditary. That is, it is not passed on directly from the parents to the child. However, there does seem to be a predisposition in some families to develop asthma and other allergic conditions. The second question is difficult to answer. Many small children are cured of their asthma and some appear to "outgrow" it. The cause is largely a sensitivity to proteins outside of the body, usually those which are breathed in. Among such proteins which are common causes of asthma are dander from cats, dogs, horses and like animals; pollen from weeds like ragweed; house dust, and sometimes the proteins in certain foods like eggs, wheat or milk.

Q—My husband is low in fertility. Is there any special food I can include in the diet to increase his fertility? A Reader.

A—There are thousands of possible causes for low fertility. Inadequate diet or diets lacking in some special food essential are among the possible causes. However, there is no food which any ethical physician would recommend for this purpose without having made thorough studies of all the factors involved.

Q—Will varicose veins have a tendency to keep one from gaining weight? E. S.

A—No.

Q—There is a malicious slander here that a person who has a complete hysterectomy must be diseased. Is this true? T. J. R.

A—The most common cause for a hysterectomy is the presence of fibroid tumors. This is not related to any infectious disease.

Pacific Ocean 5,035 miles west of San Francisco.

Q—What is unique about Michelangelo's "Pieta"?

A—It is the only work he ever signed, a fact which developed from a dispute over the true identity of the sculptor of The Pieta. Locking himself in with it one night, the true sculptor chiseled, on the ribbon running diagonally across the Virgin's left shoulder, "I, Michelangelo Buonarroti of Florence, Made This."

Q—What is the meaning of the term "career woman"?

A—A career woman is one who has elected to engage in a business or profession as her life's work, instead of devoting herself to domestic affairs.

Q—What causes meat fat to be yellow in color?

A—The amount of kerotene in the animal's diet determines the yellow color of beef fat. The more kerotene in the feed, the yellower the fat.

Q—What is the length of the longest stretch of continuous rail operated by United States railroads?

A—A stretch of 34,056 feet, on the former Denver & Salt Lake Railway. There are 12 stretches of continuous rails in the United States, each more than a mile in length.

The LONESOME BRIDE

By Grace Nies Fletcher
Copyright 1950 by NEA Service Inc.

THE STORY: After Gloria Brown learned to make apple pie in the apartment of Mrs. Benoni, she was invited to a party where she met a man who was looking for a wife. She decided to marry him.

Q—Is it true that a wife can become sterile if her husband constantly belittles, abuses and criticizes her?

A—It is hard to believe that such outrageous actions would be a direct cause of sterility. It is not necessary to bring in sterility in order to condemn such action on the part of a husband.

Q—Can one take too much vitamin A?

A—One can take more vitamin A than is needed by the body but apparently even in great excess vitamin A does not cause any harm other than to help drain the pocketbook.

Q—Can colitis and mucus with nervous tension cause heart fibrillations in an old rheumatic heart where the heart muscles are still good according to a recent cardiogram?

A—In all probability the heart difficulty is related to the old rheumatic heart disease and not to the colitis. There is probably no connection between the last two.

Q—Will varicose veins have a tendency to keep one from gaining weight?

A—No.

EX-G.I. ALLEGED SLAYER

Mitades Brown, 26, son of Prof. John Nemo Brown of Boston, head of the classical drama department in one of the oldest and most prestigious universities in the country, is being held for questioning in the knife killing of pretty Sal Strong, sister of Broadway star Alida Strong, who was killed last night in "The King's Mistress."

Attorney Strong's $20,000 emerald necklace, which she wears in the act, was recently stolen, according to police. Sal was murdered at Jones Beach yesterday and Strong claims he found her floating in the water with a knife in her back . . .

"MRS. BENONI used such a big pie plate so the necklace would all go in," Gloria thought numbly, with the inconsequence in which a person takes refuge when the mind is too numb to face reality. At least the lieutenant had not yet told the reporters that the knife was Gloria's or about the dope. Probably he was leaving that up to the federal authorities.

Did they lock a person at Leavenworth or Alcatraz for dope peddling? She looked for dry lips and it seemed to her as she stood there miserably on the sidewalk waiting for Sammy that everyone who passed cast upon her a hard, suspicious eye.

"Look out!" she gasped. Someone jostling by had pushed her almost off the curb and the clasp of her handbag opened, spilling out lipstick, coin purse, bobby pins, her last letter from home and a recipe for jellied tomato salad, into the gutter. As she gathered up her belongings with shaking fingers, she looked about but no one was even near her.

"What gives?" Sammy came running up. "Someone try to snatch your roll?"

Lee Gets His Notice He'll Be Discharged

Remington May Get His Notice Today Officials Indicate

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—Michael Lee, who describes himself as a former White Russian, was officially notified Thursday he will be fired from his $10,000-a-year commerce department post unless he can refute administrative charges against him within five days.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer had the notice of discharge papers served on Lee this afternoon.

The department refused to disclose the nature of the charges. Lee himself said he had been informed the charges were "maladministration" although, he added, Sawyer and other department officials had previously attested to his "ability, competence and loyalty."

In a statement Lee said that despite these earlier statements by Sawyer, the secretary has now yielded to an "ultimatum" by the members of a senate subcommittee.

Lee and William W. Remington, another $10,000-a-year commerce department official, have both been under congressional fire on loyalty grounds. Both have denied pro-communist leanings.

Sawyer demanded last week that Lee and Remington resign or be ousted, although he emphasized this action was not taken on loyalty grounds in the case of either man. Both men refused to quit.

Until today's action, it had been expected that the department would act first in the case of Remington. Officials said he may get his notice tomorrow.

Support For Atlantic Union

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts today reported that 30 Senators and "more than 50 representatives" are pledged to support the proposed Atlantic Union convention if the plan comes to a vote in Congress.

Roberts, who is president of the Atlantic Union Committee, Inc., told its national meeting that a favorable Senate vote "is not impossible" this session.

A resolution by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) would direct President Truman to invite the member nations of the Atlantic alliance to a convention. Such a convention would study the possibility of a trans-Atlantic federation of the democratic countries.

Roberts told the nation-wide committee that it has made "amazing progress" in the 15 months since it was organized. Besides the Congress members already pledged, he said, "a new Congressman declares himself in every week."

"We haven't found set opposition from any member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee," he said. "The whole program has gone far beyond my fondest expectations."

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) declared himself a convert to the proposed Atlantic Union. He said it could turn what he called the "militaristic Atlantic pact into a great coalition for world peace."

Whiteman and Harger Killed in Accident To be Tried in K.C.

Paul Whiteman, 25, Sedalia, and Harry Arthur Harger, Jr., 23, who were arrested west of Dresden April 17, after they wrecked a stolen car out of Lees Summit, were bound over to the Jackson county criminal court, Thursday afternoon. The young men represented themselves at a hearing before a Magistrate court in Kansas City.

The two had escaped from a Missouri penitentiary prison farm on April 15, made their way to Kansas City and returned to Lees Summit where they stole a car from the Pontiac garage. They were enroute to Sedalia when they overtook on a turn west of Dresden in front of an approaching state patrol car driven by Sergeant William Barton who took them into custody.

On May 13 they broke jail, escaping from the Pettis county jail, only to be recaptured about twenty minutes later by two Sedalia police officers and returned to "big four" in the jail. They were taken to Jackson county to answer to charges of car theft.

Wins 'Chicken Of Tomorrow' Contest Here

Wise Calvert Farm First; Is State-wide Show

Wise Calvert Farm, Springfield, captured the 1950 championship, and other high honors, in the annual Missouri state Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest here today.

The Springfield entry of fifteen birds, of the Cornish-New Hampshire Cross strain, was the winning flock. The live weight of the prize chickens was an even 70 pounds. They dressed out at close to 64 pounds, making an average weight per bird of slightly more than four pounds.

Today's victory entitles Wise Calvert to represent Missouri in the regional contest to be held at Shawnee, Okla., later this month. Regional competition is held prior to the national finals next year when the leading poultry breeders from all over the country will compete for $10,000 in awards provided by A&P food stores.

Second place in today's state event went to Colonial Poultry Farms of Pleasant Hill, which entered a flock of White Cornish-White Rock crosses. Colonial also took ninth place honors. Third, eighth and tenth places also were taken by Wise Calvert entries.

Fourth, fifth and seventh prizes were won by flocks from the Edwards Hatchery of Springfield, while sixth place was taken by the entry from the Stamper Hatchery of Centralia.

Improvement Program

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest is a poultry improvement program being conducted among the nation's top poultrymen by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with A&P food stores. The goal of the program is, through cross-breeding, to produce new strains of poultry with more white meat, and less bone at a more tender age.

Awards were presented to today's winners by H. C. Weddenford, vice president of A&P food stores, who praised the work being done in the state by poultry breeders and representatives of the poultry department at the University of Missouri.

Present at today's contest were Prof. H. L. Kempster, head of the poultry department at the University; E. M. Funke, professor of poultry husbandry at U. of M.; and Robert Ashen, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Kansas City; H. L. Crowe, manager of the Producer's Produce Company, Sedalia; and R. L. Wiske, manager of Swift and Company, Sedalia, who acted as judges for the event.

The contest was held at Producer's Produce Company and was supervised by Q. B. Kinder, of the University of Missouri, chairman.

Support to Blood Bank By Jaycees

for blood, due to the shortage of volunteer donors.

One important point Carrel stressed was the pint of blood a person gave, would help save another person's life. He said if enough donors were maintained, the blood would be free to persons in need of it.

He related an incident concerning an accident in which two persons were killed and several injured, occurring on south highway 85 near Sedalia less than a year ago. He said in saving the lives of those injured, and in the attempt to save one person who died, they used up every drop of blood available at the hospital and had to call several volunteer donors out of bed that night. He said one injured woman was given twelve pints of blood.

He said, "We never know when it's going to happen. It might be our life that needs saving. The only way we can keep the blood bank working smoothly is to have many volunteers."

On the whole, Acheson said the efforts of the Europeans to build up their might "are encouraging."

"There is a new spirit in being," he said, "which is characterized by the conviction that the defense of the Atlantic area is a real and attainable objective. In spite of the continued importance of pursuing the task of economic recovery . . . our European partners are progressively devoting more funds to their defense budgets."

Gold Medal To The 'Veep'

Gift to Barkley Is Presented at The White House

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—A gold medal that Congress voted Vice President Alben Barkley for "distinguished public service" was presented to the "Veep" today.

President Truman gave it to him at a White House ceremony attended by members of the supreme court, the cabinet and many members of the Senate.

Beaming, Mr. Truman said he didn't believe he "ever had a privilege I appreciated more."

"And," the President added, "I have given away more medals than all the presidents put together."

Congress appropriated $2,500 on Aug. 12, 1949 to be spent on designing and striking a medal honoring Barkley who served in Congress—House or Senate—for 25 years before his election as vice president in 1948.

One side bears a likeness of Barkley. On the other side is an American eagle and the inscription, "In recognition of distinguished public service."

The 72-year-old Barkley was pleased and embarrassed as a small boy in accepting it.

Mauna Loa Erupts Lava

a. m. three and one-half hours after the eruption.

This would cut off telephone communication between Hilo and the Kona, or southwest, coast. Honolulu police said.

A fan-American pilot said Mauna Loa shot a smoke cloud 30,000 feet up.

"It looked like an atomic explosion mushroom," said Gilbert B. Blackmore. "We could hear pieces of what was probably ash hitting against the plane."

"The main lava flow was long with branches running off the side. Some of the branches appeared to be longer than the main flow."

Blackmore said the main flow was two miles wide.

"The flow was on the south side," Blackmore said. "Fire was shooting up high from the mountain. The flow looked like a saw tooth."

Atom Bomb Fears

These are days of dire predictions. On every side we hear talk of probable future wars, of the collapse of civilization. There is great fear especially concerning atomic bombs.

Most of mankind may be divided into two groups. The first group is made up of those to whom God and religion are all-important. The second comprises those who treat God as though He did not exist, who look upon religion as something not to be taken too seriously.

It is in the second category—the category of the worldlings—that atomic bomb neuroses are most markedly evident. The reasons are simple.

To the religious person it is relatively unimportant whether he is going to die from heart disease, an automobile accident or an atomic explosion. What most concerns him is whether or not he will be spiritually prepared when death strikes.

Atomic bombs will not drive the man of faith to excessive fears. At most they will keep him reminded of the inevitability of death and final judgment.

Far different, however, is the case of the worldling who sees in the atomic bomb the end of everything to which he has grown attached. The atom bomb may blow his nice little world to smithereens—and with it all his hopes and joys, all his triumphs and treasured possessions. Never having bothered to think about, much less prepare himself for any other world, why should he not shudder?

Naturally men of faith and religion will do all in their power to prevent the horror and sin of atomic mass destruction. That is their obligation. But they will not be stampeded into the abysmal fear which comes only to those who have never tried to know God, who have never learned to pray and put their trust in Him.

Sunday School Lesson

What the World Owes to Habakkuk

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Hebrew prophet Habakkuk, who probably lived about 600 B.C., is represented in our Bible by only three comparatively short chapters. But in addition to the vividness and vigor of their portrayals of a time of war and invasion and to the power of their questionings and judgments, these three chapters have given to us some oft-quoted and well-known sayings, the source of which is probably unknown even to many readers of the Bible.

In verse two of chapter two for instance, is the origin of the saying "that he who runs may read," a reference to making things clear and plain. In the same chapter, in verse 14, is the reference to the "earth being filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." And in the very next verse is the oft-repeated temperance quotation, "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink," an injunction little regarded today.

But most notable are the words repeated in many churches, every Sunday, and often inscribed on walls and above altars. "The Lord is in His holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before Him."

But though Habakkuk's prophecy is memorable for these things, it is notable for something deeper than striking and lasting phrases. The prophet begins by his reference to his "burden"; and his burden, as he proceeds to deliver it, was a heavy one.

It was a burden of wonderment and reflection concerning God, and God's providence. It was as if he had been looking out over our world today—seeing iniquity and evil apparently going unrebuked, with treacherous dealing, with poverty and the wicked devouring the righteous. Did God care? Was He so pure and holy that He could not look upon such evil, and was silent while the oppression went on?

But Habakkuk's words are not all of wonderment and doubt. He turns to a burden of swift moving and terrible judgment. The hand of God is manifest in history. Sin finds nations and peoples out, quite as much as sin brings its results to individuals.

There were those in Israel who had not done justly, who had not walked humbly with their God. Their sin had weakened the fabric of a nation that was about to fall under the terror of invading Chaldean armies. It is a grim and terrible picture of war that Habakkuk gives, but he sees in this invading power the instruments of God's judgment upon a people, chosen to righteousness and greatness who had spurned God's call.

And what to these invaders themselves? Judgment was awaiting them also, and from our vantage point of history we know full well what happened to them. What would Habakkuk say about God's judgments today? It is worth a great deal of careful and prayerful thinking.

Sedalia Cubs Drop Game to K. C. Team 9-4

Kansas City Cash Bargain team, aided by a four run outburst in the eighth inning, downed the Sedalia Cubs 9 to 4, in a hotly played semi-pro baseball game at Liberty Park, Thursday night.

The eighth, turning rally staged by the visitors took a lot of spirit out of the Cubs, but until that time, were holding their own against the powerful Kansas City club.

The Cubs, who have received little home town support, played before the smallest crowd of this season. The weather probably had something to do with the light crowd.

Visitors Score First

The first inning passed without either team scoring. In the first half of the second inning, the Kansas Citizens scored one run on a hit, while pitcher and one walk. The Cubs, not to be outdone, took advantage of three walks, and a passed ball to tie up the score.

The Kansas Citizens scored one run in the fifth; two in the sixth, one in the seventh and tallied four in the eighth. The Cubs gathered their other three runs in the fifth, sixth, and ninth innings.

The visitors got 13 hits and made two errors, while the home town team connected with nine hits and committed five errors.

DeVillette, K.C. hurler, struckout four and walked six, while Rapp struckout seven and walked six. The young Sedalia right-handed hurler did a good job of pitching, until he got into trouble in the eighth inning. He was relieved in the top of the ninth by Shippley, who allowed one hit, and walked one.

Hume Was Top Hitter

Miller Hume, 36-year old catcher for the Cubs, who did a fine job behind the plate, was the leading hitter of the night, knocking out four singles out of five trips to the plate. This season is his first behind the plate in five years.

The longest hit of the game was a three sacker by Goldstein, Kansas City rightfielder, who got two for five that night.

Even though the Cubs lost, they were credited with one of those rare plays, which may be some time before it occurs again at Liberty Park. They halted what appeared to be another rally for the visitors, by making a triple play prior to the play, had two men out and one out.

Cubs manager, Louie B. Shis, a scout for the St. Louis Browns minor league club, was saying whether he was there on business or just as a spectator.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 2—(AP)—It must be the weather. . . . Shag Shaughnessy, the International League president, was putting in an off-day cursing over elements and chuckling over some recent major league player trades.

"Ran," he ejaculated. "Del Webb told me in Kansas City that where they could have batting or fielding practice. They've had to keep the tarpaulin on the field right up to game time. . . . But we got by Memorial day all right and had some nice crowds. . . . It was real nice sitting out there in the sunshine. . . . (Maybe that's the next baseball novelty—playing the game in the afternoon with the sun as a big selling point.) . . . What do you think of that? White Sox-Washington deal?" Shag asked, and without waiting for an answer he continued: "They were trying all spring to sell those two pitchers, and they were going to hold out for big prices. . . . So they wind up having to trade with each other. . . . Some of the writers are saying Ray Scarborough will go to the Yankees. . . . After putting out a lot of money for Fred Sanford and Dick Wakefield, I don't think George Weiss will ever buy a player again. . . . He looked out the window again at the rain.

When Stung Was Stung

One of the most surprising endings to a football game this year occurred probably early in the 1943 Illinois-Ohio State contest, which the Buckeyes won 15 to 10. At the final gun Paul Brown was of the Cleveland Browns was Ohio State coach, adds one detail that generally has been overlooked. . . . As you recall, Illinois was off-side on the last play and the teams were called back from the dressing rooms to run it again. . . . Brown knew what the play would be. He tried for a field goal, though Stungis never had kicked one. . . . "There's nothing to it, John," said Paul. "I never missed a field goal in my life." . . . Stungis' wobbly kick barely cleared the cross bar to give the Bucks a 29-26 victory. . . . The elated athlete raced into the clubhouse screaming, "I'm even with you, coach. I've never missed a field goal either." . . . "John," answered Paul with a grin, "you're up on me. I never tried one."

Colonels Made It Four in Row Over Indians

By The Associated Press

The Louisville Colonels are making a dog-fight out of the American Association race. The Colonels staged a victory over the struggling Indianapolis Indians last night with a 16 to 8 triumph, changing the leaders of the league in their last 11 games, third-place Louisville drew up to within 2 1/2 games from Indianapolis and only one full game behind runner-up Minneapolis.

City overpowered the Millers, 16 to 8, in a long drawn-out contest interrupted twice by rain.

In other games, Toledo and Columbus split a double header. The Mud Hens won the opener, 2 to 0, and Columbus capped the second game 6 to 4. St. Paul ended a five-game losing streak, defeating Milwaukee 12 to 6.

Louisville scored a run in the first inning and added five in the second on five hits and some help by Indianapolis. The Indians bounced back for four runs on five hits in the second frame, but Louisville kept pecking away and added four more runs and a total of 15 hits to clinch the game.

Old Cardinals never die. Take Marjorie Maucun for instance. For 11 major league years, Mr. Shortstop went quietly about his business. Never did he hit a home run with the bases loaded. Never, until last night.

Marjorie Maucun, who has been with the Cardinals since 1934, hit a home run with the bases loaded in the eighth inning of a game against the St. Louis Cardinals, helping the Cardinals win 5-2.

Already the eager youngster has set a league record, having 34 consecutive scoreless innings. He has completed five of his six starts.

In his first start, Elliott came in to pitch the ninth inning of a game between the Pirates and the Muskogees. He pitched a perfect ninth, earning his first victory.
